A big thank you goes to Heather for her beautiful poem about Helen. We are looking for any contributions from residents. You all have a story to tell, an interest or favourite recipe.

Our last movie for the year!

Albert Finney set the bar for his magnificent portrayal of Scrooge and the late Sir Alec Guinness played Jacob Marley to perfection. The costumes are fabulous and then there is the music, every song is terrific! Is this the best version ever made?

DECEMBER RESIDENTS' COMMITTEE REPORT

We are now at the end of the year. It has been a busy time for your resident's committee. We started with the introduction of a morning tea to compliment the afternoon tea each month. An informal Friday night drinks was introduced by residents and has continued to this day. The survey carried out recently detected a number of people who were lonely and a craft afternoon was started on a Sunday. It is our intention to expand this to include other crafts. We anticipate other activities to be added to the weekend.

The common room at Lisle will now be opened on a weekend so anyone can now use it for activities or just to chat and have a get together.

In November we had our first visit from Mt Claremont Play Group. I know each resident who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Because of additional interest we then instituted a Tuesday visit to compliment the Thursday. The Thursday visit will be weekly while the Tuesday will be every other week. The Tuesday visit is limited by the Playgroup on that day. On Thursday 21st November we had the Post Newspaper visit to take photographs of the Playgroup. The Nedlands Mayor also attended the event. The Playgroup has asked if they can hold their Christmas Carols at the Lisle Common Room in mid-December and residents, of course, are invited. At this stage the Playgroup visits look to be permanent. They are limited by weather as they walk up here and if too hot it is cancelled for that day.

On Friday 22nd November we had a darts night opening. This was well attended and the "skills" of all was observed. We all need a lot of practice!! Kelly won the prize for the night and Heather won the next game. Our first game was Aussie Rules Football on the dart board. There are many more games we can play. The meeting decided that this would be a regular event and held on the second Sunday of each month. This first event was held on the same day as the informal Friday drinks and nibbles. It was never intended to take the place of this event. The darts board can be used at any time of the day and week and we encourage groups to use it whenever they like.

For sometime we have been looking at ways to improve the traffic flow around the village so it is much safer to move around and cross Alfred Road. We have taken a number of steps to try and rectify this situation. However, I was informed we had never made a formal approach to residents to gauge their opinion and ask you what you specifically wanted. We will be putting out a flyer shortly to ask you what YOU want. Please respond as fully as you can so we can try and fulfil your wishes.

The Happy Hour, Afternoon tea, morning tea and informal Friday drinks continue to be well supported. If you have not attended any of these events please try and make it. You will enjoy the company and make new friends.

In December we had our Xmas dinner with an attendance of 54 people. The Happy Hour, informal Friday drinks, Afternoon/morning teas and dart events will continue through December and January.

In 2020 we will be spending time with trying to address issues with rubbish bins and recycling. We will also look at issues concerning the NBN and see if we can assist in any way. We have other activities and events planned for 2020 to complement those events instituted in 2019

To all residents: Have a very Merry Christmas and may you all have great health and happiness in 2020.

Peter Grey

President of Leaweena & Lisle Villages' Resident Committee on behalf of your Committee.

A QUICK MESSAGE FROM WHITE OAK HOME CARE SERVICES

As many of you know, Lisle Villages recently entered into an agreement with White Oak Home Care Services. Lisle Villages has engaged White Oak to provide residents with a range of services, support and information. They are available for any questions you may have about home care and support.

White Oak is able to provide services through a variety of Government funded programs*, this includes the Commonwealth Home Support Programme (CHSP) – formerly known as Home and Community Care (HACC).

The Commonwealth Government has not committed to the continuation of CHSP beyond 30 June 2020. The commonly held view is CHSP will be rolled into and superseded by the Home Care Package Programme (HCP).

While the future of CHSP remains uncertain White Oak has made the strategic decision to partner with approved CHSP providers. This arrangement enables White Oak to deliver services through a 'brokered' arrangement. This is a common practice within the home care sector.

With the predicted need for people to transition from CHSP to HCP, White Oak has made this decision to ensure the adjustment is as seamless as possible i.e. You can continue to have the same people coming into your home, providing services, regardless of the funded program.

If you have received notification that you're eligible for CHSP services and would like White Oak to deliver them, please elect Shine as your service provider and contact Bianca Smilek on (08) 6404 1213 to let her know you have done so. Bianca is also available to answer any queries you may have.

White Oak – Bringing our Family to Yours

*White Oak is an approved provider of Home Care Packages (HCP), Veterans Home Care (VHC), Department of Veterans Affairs Community Nursing (DVA – CN) and Interim Hospital Packages (IHP).

TAKE A DEEP BREATH BY EDITH HAMILTON-BROAD.

Published in the Western Mail, 14th
November 1946

In the art of oratory, Uncle Wilkie was no master; nevertheless, he appointed Himself instructor to Angela with surprising results..

Right from the moment his favourite Niece had come running to him with the news that she had got a job as an announcer on a radio station, Uncle Wilkie Todhunter has constituted himself a guide and mentor. After she had actually commenced broadcasting, no matter if on straight announcing, on the women's session or in the children's hour. Uncle Wilkie listened in.

There was a special reason for his interest, of course, quite apart from the fact that Angela was his well-loved niece to whom on day he meant to leave his fortune. Uncle Wilkie Todhunter was a member of Parliament and he well knew the difficulties of the art of oratory. His interest in the way to speak was therefore deep and profound. He knew all the tricks of correct "timing"; the almost imperceptible pause before a remark to be thrown up into prominence; the longer pause after it, that it might sink in; the lowering of the tone; the raising of it at just the right moment when an impression was needed... Thus, Uncle Wilkie.

Angela listened with patience. She said, "Yes Uncle, No Uncle," "I understand, Uncle." All at the right moment. Actually, she did profit by his text book advice. Sometimes though, in spite of herself, she could scarcely restrain an impulse to smile. She just let her eyes twinkle as Uncle Wilkie held forth. For truth to tell his knowledge of oratory was only theory.

Angela had often gone to the house to listen to debates and has squirmed when Uncle Wilkie too the floor. When he rose pompously to his feet it was: "Mr -er- speaker. Er (pause) I submit -er- sir that it -er- would be unduly optimistic -er- to expect the -er- honourable member for -er ... Although a brainy man, he was oddly unaware of his stilted phraseology and would hold the floor, floundering through his address. Angela did not care to point out his defect though she often considered way and means. So she bore with him.

"Ah my dear," he would say when calling upon the family. I listened to you today and there is a great improvement in your announcing, full and rich our voice is; full and rich, but your breathing must be attended to. Your timing is excellent. A very creditable little pupil of your old uncle, Eh? But one day we must go into the matter of deep breathing."

One morning, Uncle met her at the city terminus and offered to drive her the rest of the way, right to the studio door, explaining that he was on his way to the House for a little early work. Instantly he began his favourite topic: "Now about the deep breathing. It was absolutely necessary for good health and in you case, my dear, for your job. You must practice it as I do. Every morning in my life as soon as I get up, I stand at my open windows and take deep breaths, like this." He took a great deep breath.

"Yes, dear, I'll try it, but here we are at the studio."

"Ah, yes, just as we were getting into a good subject, Ah well." He opened the door and let her alight. She crossed around to the other side of the car to thank him. "I'm really quite early thanks uncle. See you later."

"Early, are you? Then come here a minute, here's another little hint. When you take those deep breaths - he leaned out of the open window of the car, "here's a good way to ensure the perfect intake of good, fresh air. Like this..

With his thumb pressed against one nostril, fingers outspread he took a huge breath. Angela, one eye upon her watch, scarcely noticed. "yes, Uncle dear."

You've still got plenty of time, so try it with me. Put your thumb against the side of one nostril-so! That's right." He did likewise. "Now breathe deeply." Angela obeyed, and in the sweet morning air she stood beside the car both of them practising deep breathing, thumb against the nose, fingers outspread.

It was so absurd she was thinking; yet he was so earnest, and as her thoughts ran thus Angela sensed rather than heard a significant click. Turning as her uncle's car drew away, she looked straight into the lens of a camera, the candid camera man bowed his thanks and without a word, departed.

Angela stood enraged. Then rushed into the studio, she rang the house to ask for Mr Wilkie Todhunter.

"Tell him to ring his niece, the very instant he comes in. He's on his way there now."

Seething as she waited, she tried to picture what the cameraman had seen, and of its reception in the popular pictorial. She began to laugh, even whilst for mutating in her mind the cutting things she would have to say to her silly old uncle when he rang. Inference even so, she laughed aloud at eh mind-picture the deep breathing episode conjured up and when at length she heard her uncle's voice, all she said was "this is Angela. About that deep breathing, I have just heard there is to be something interesting in the pictorial paper, so look out for it."

"Excellent-excellent, but what is it? Something funny?"

"Well" she hesitated, still laughing, it ought to be interesting at least."

Despite her attitude of laughing it off, Angela was by no means happy, and when at length the weekly appeared, she turned the pages rapidly, and there it was a full page spread of her uncle and herself, apparently thumbing noses at each other!

She did not know whether to laugh or cry, until she realised that she herself was in shadow, back to the camera, but Uncle Wilkie - there was no mistaking the gent's countenance of Wilkie Todhunter, gravely leaning out of his own car.

The caption read: "Well known politician greets friend - a candid camera study."

He was up in arms of course; threatened action - threatened to blow the whole pictorial paper's premises to smithereens. But he only took a deep breath and went for a long trip somewhere. Thereafter, Angela lived in peace.

SOCIAL NEWS

THE WALKING GROUP

Our numbers have dropped off recently, due to the heat. So it has been decided to stop for now and start again when the weather cools in March 2020.

Meredith (Lisle Lodge)

SUNDAY CRAFT AFTERNOON

A very pleasant afternoon was spent making Christmas cards on Sunday 17th November. Six residents attended. Helen Hamilton-Broad (Lisle Lodge) organised the packs to make the cards and supplied the necessary bits and pieces to cut, measure and decorate the creative endeavours.

We also enjoyed a cup of tea and a delicious cake and biscuits all baked by Helen. More afternoons like this will be organised in the new year.

HAPPY HOUR

Happy Hours and Friday social gatherings continue to be well supported. Our last Happy Hour for the year will be held on Friday 27th December at 5:30pm. Come along and celebrate.

DARTS EVENING

The dart board was opened on Friday 22nd November. The event was enthusiastically supported by 18 residents who thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Competition was intense.

The winners of the prize were Kelly and Heather. Well done both of you. Jenny Steer was the only person to hit the dartboard's bullseye. Well done Jenny. I'm sure all records will be broken in the coming months as the residents hone their skills in future events.

Darts evenings will continue at Leaweena. They will take place once a month on the second Sunday of each month at 5:30pm. Bring nibbles and drinks and be prepared to enjoy yourselves.

For those of you who enjoy walking around Claremont Lake the Tee Box Café is now open until 8:00pm and they have a licence to sell alcohol. A good place to stop off after a walk for a morning coffee or evening drink and snack.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Le Gioie Delle Donne Choir will perform 'Buon Natele' Christmas Carols in Italian at Bay View Terrace on December 5th between 5 & 9pm

Thank you to Leuba McMaugh (Leaweena) for this interesting news.

Christmas Carols at Lisle Lodge

The Mt Claremont Play Group will be doing their Christmas Carols in the Common room of Lisle Lodge on Thursday 19th December at 1pm. The children and their parents will attend this event. Of course residents are also invited to attend. Please come to the common room a little before 1pm so we can organise how we are to be seated.

Many thanks,

Peter Grey

President of Leaweena & Lisle Villages' Resident Committee on behalf of your Committee.

CHRISTMAS CAKE

Nigella Lawson Recipe

INGREDIENTS

775 grams best-quality mixed dried fruit

175 grams unsalted butter

250 grams dark brown muscovado sugar

1 x 250 grams tin sweetened chestnut puree

125 millilitres dark rum

juice and zest of 1 orange

zest of 1 lemon

3 large eggs (beaten)

250 grams plain flour

½ teaspoon baking powder

¼ teaspoon cinnamon

¼ teaspoon ground cloves

¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg

METHOD

1. Preheat the oven to gas mark 2/150°C/130°C Fan/300°F (though you might prefer to do this after the fruits and so forth have started bubbling in their pan). Line the sides and bottom of a deep 20cm / 8-inch round cake tin with a double layer of greaseproof paper (parchment paper). The greaseproof should be higher than the sides of the tin. Wrap a double layer of brown paper (the kind used for parcels) around the outside of the tin, tying it with string. The paper should be double the height of the tin, and this gives an extra layer of insulation for the cake so that it cooks slowly. If you don't have any brown paper, it is not absolutely necessary, but it will keep the cake from becoming too dark around the sides and top.

2. Put the dried fruit, butter, sugar, chestnut purée or spread, rum and orange juice and zests into a large wide saucepan and bring to the boil gently, stirring as the butter melts. Simmer the mixture for 10 minutes, and then take it off the heat and leave to stand for 30 minutes, by which time the fruits will have been soured and the mixture cooled slightly. Now, add the beaten eggs, flour, baking powder and spices and stir to combine.
3. Pour the fruit cake mixture very carefully into the prepared cake tin.
4. Place in the oven and bake for 1¾–2 hours, by which time the top of the cake should be firm and dry and will have cracked a little. If you insert a cake tester into the middle of the cake it will still come out a little sticky.
5. Put the cake on a cooling rack and take off the brown paper from around the outside of the tin. It will hold its heat and take a long while to cool, but once it has cooled completely, unmould it from the tin and wrap the cake well in a layer of greaseproof paper and then foil until you want to decorate it.
6. The cake will keep for a couple of months well wrapped and in a cool dark place. If you want a more boozy offering you can feed the cake with 3 tablespoons more rum as soon as it gets out of the oven. That's to say, pierce the top of the cake several times with a fine skewer, spoon over the rum and let it sink in.
